

Ms. Citton's Example:

YELLOW: Introduction (Hook). GREEN: Background (Exposition). TEAL: THESIS (Claim). BLUE: First point (claim + support and evidence). PINK: Second point (claim + support and evidence). RED: Third point (claim + support and evidence). GREY: Concluding sentence.

All I want is a smoothie and perhaps not to be scared or weirded out by the high school dropout making it. On many occasions when I go to the mall, the people who are hired at the food court, or smaller establishments are the people with multiple tattoos including face tattoos and/or multiple piercings. People with face tattoos and excessive facial piercings are aggressive, fearless, and a danger to society. Individuals who choose to tattoo and pierce holes in their face are aggressive. They exhibit angry tendencies towards anyone and everyone who is not the same. They wear their anger and aggression on their face – literally. People with facial tattoos and piercings are fearless. They are willing to allow another human being to permanently scar and disfigure their face without fear. Individuals who are both aggressive in nature and fearless are a danger to society. They possess no moral compass or understand virtues; they are reckless and commit crimes. They instill rebellion in their followers and threaten the system we trust, respect, and understand. Individuals are free to do with their bodies what they will; however, when they choose to permanently scar their faces with tattoos and piercings they tell the world that they are aggressive, fearless and a danger to society.